Global Intelligence

The world involving mission trips is changing. Organizations can no longer focus only on the traveler's needs. The school, church, or sending organization is at risk just as much as those going on the trip. The needs of both the traveler and the organization must be addressed.

MissionArmor offers a range of intelligence services to help partners operate efficiently and with confidence world-wide.

- Daily Security Alerts
- U.S. State Department Advisories
- Location Briefs for every country are fed directly into every MissionsIQ system

The service monitors the globe in 30 languages, 24 hours a day and maintains an in-depth intelligent database on more than

- 200 Countries & Territories
- 400 Cities
- Data from thousands of sources, both open source and private contacts

We ensure that our ministry partners have the best information available to aid in critical decision-making.

Integrated Risk Management

MissionArmor is an intelligent platform that delivers risk-management solutions for teams traveling on mission. Our goal is to help ministries understand "Duty of Care", educate participants in risk and safety, and provide a simple to use platform.

Simply put, "Duty of Care" is the moral, legal, and ethical obligation to take responsibility for the safety and security of travelers an organization oversees.

It is an important concept because failure to honor a Duty of Care obligation can result in legal liability for ministries.
